

Company profile Gourmet Dairy Zott

Status 03/2026

The name Zott stands for enjoyment and quality paired with a passion for milk. For 100 years and in its 4th generation, the Bavarian family business has successfully produced a variety of well-known yoghurt, dessert and cheese specialities, including Zott Monte, Jogobella and Zottarella. The brand Pure Joy offers the first vegan product range from Zott. Last but not least, an extensive private label and industrial business complements the dairy's portfolio. This includes tailor-made trade solutions, high-quality milk and whey powder, and cheese in block form for a wide range of industrial applications.

Every single product from Zott is manufactured with great attention to detail and in compliance with the highest quality standards. This is guaranteed by a comprehensive quality management system based on binding rules, uniform regulations, an established HACCP system, regular audits, and a culture of food safety that is put into practice. For its production facilities, the dairy has all the necessary certifications and also holds other specific certificates, such as that from Halal Control.

The commitment to sustainability is a key concern for the Zott Group. Throughout the entire value chain and taking ESG criteria into account, the company works to responsibly shape ecological, social, and corporate aspects. Together with partners from the agricultural sector and beyond, a wide range of practical and efficient measures are being implemented. The scientifically based climate targets confirmed by the SBTi, which the company has committed to achieving by 2034, serve as a particular benchmark.

With currently around 2,979 employees and a consolidated net group turnover of around EUR 1.282 million and a milk processing volume of 881 million kg in 2025, Zott is one of the large dairies in Europe. In addition to the group's main plant in Mertingen, Bavaria, there are further production sites in Germany (Günzburg) and in Poland (Opole). Zott also has sales locations in Austria, Hungary, Croatia, the Czech Republic, Slovakia and Vietnam.
